

Ingliston House:
Private residence of the highest quality on the Wentworth Estate

PROJECT TEAM

Client:

Private Client

Project Manager:

Holloway White Allom

Architect:

Adam Architecture

Building Services Consultant:

Slender Winter Partnership

Lighting Design:

Lighting Design International

Ingliston House, Wentworth Estate, Surrey

Darke & Taylor were engaged as the electrical services specialist on this significant new build project situated adjacent to the renowned Wentworth championship golf course. The project incorporated classical design, the finest standards of finish and state of the art security technology to create a unique residence of the very highest standard.

Project Scope:

- Mains Infrastructure
- Small Power Installation
- Specialist Architectural Lighting
- Systems Integration
- Controls Wiring
- Fire Alarm
- Security & Access Control
- External Lighting Scheme
- Power to Mechanical Plant

Further Details:

Ingliston House was designed by Robert Adam of Adam Architecture, one of the country's leading practitioners of traditional and progressive architecture. Darke & Taylor's skilled workforce and unique supply chain of specialist sub-contractors were ideally suited to the installation of key services to this residence which required excellent technical competency matched by a standard of finish for which there was no compromise. The result was the creation of a wonderful building, regarded as one of the company's landmark projects that is a significant demonstration of its capability in the prestigious buildings construction sector.

